About our students and alumni

Webster Vienna students are typically multi-lingual and come from diverse cultural backgrounds. Our graduate students often have previous work experience in their home countries or abroad in both the private and public sectors.

A key element of a Webster education is the focus on hands-on practical knowledge as part of the learning experience. Lectures, group work, discussions, case study analysis, real life and research projects coupled with team work and student presentations help students to develop strong communication, analytical and problem-solving skills. Classes are taught exclusively in English.

Webster Vienna's students represent over 70 nationalities and faculty and staff over 20. This international atmosphere enhances intercultural understanding and tolerance.

Julia Reynolds
MBA '12

PHD STUDENT IN FINANCE

»As an alumna of the MBA program at Webster University Vienna, I received a well-rounded and hands-on education in business and finance. The curriculum encouraged us to look at real-world events with a discerning and analytical eye, often through in-depth projects and interactions with the business community. Webster's small class sizes led to meaningful interaction with faculty and lively discussions with colleagues. The flexibility of the program allowed me to add an emphasis in Finance along with my MBA, which proved invaluable in my decision to pursue a PhD in Finance.«

Webster's worldwide network of campuses gives students the opportunity to study around the world in the United States, Switzerland, The Netherlands, Ghana, Greece, England, Thailand and China.
